

Test Case

Comprehensive Markdown Elements

Test Case

Comprehensive Markdown Elements

Note This document demonstrates a wide variety of Markdown features and GitHub callout styles.

Table of Contents

Headings

H2

H3

Text Formatting

Lists

Unordered

Ordered

Links & Images

Blockquotes & Callouts

Code

Inline

Block

Tables

Details/Summary

Task Lists

Horizontal Rule

Mermaid

Here's a flowchart

And a sequence diagram

Footnotes

Headings

H1

H2

H3

H4

H5

H6

Text Formatting

Italic

Bold

Bold Italic

~~Strikethrough~~

^{Superscript}

_{Subscript}

`Inline code`

Lists

Unordered

Item 1

Subitem 1.1

Subitem 1.1.1

Item 2

Ordered

1. First

2. Second

1. Second - subitem

2. Second - subitem 2

3. Third

Links & Images

GitHub

Blockquotes & Callouts

This is a standard blockquote.

This one displays as a normal blockquote in github, and I can style it later, and we could directly throw in metadata on the law text to display nicely if usefull.

Note

This is a GitHub note callout.

Warning

This is a GitHub warning callout.

Tip

This is a GitHub tip callout.

! Important

This is a GitHub important callout.

Caution

This is a GitHun caution callout.

Code

Inline

Here is some `inline code` .

Block

```
def hello_world():
    print("Hello, world!")
```

```
Bash example
echo "Hello, Markdown!"
```

Tables

Name	Value	Description
Alpha	1	First entry
Beta	2	Second entry
Gamma	3	Third entry

Details/Summary

► Click to expand for more info

Task Lists

- ☒ Write test case
 - ☐ Review content
 - ☐ Add more examples
-

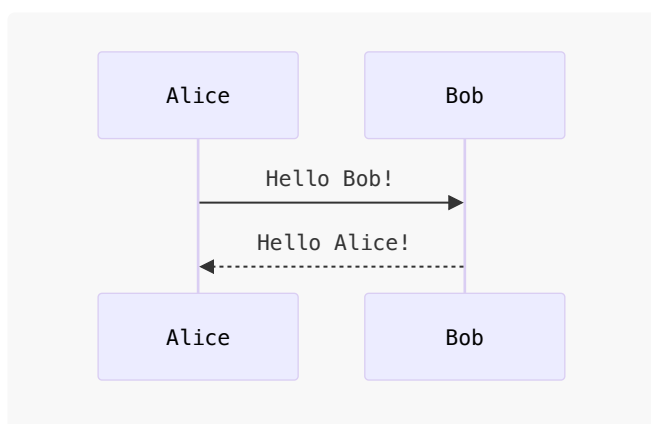

Horizontal Rule

Mermaid

Here's a flowchart

And a sequence diagram

Footnotes

Here is a statement with a footnote.^[^1]

^[^1]: This is the footnote text.